Target groups:	Youth (15-29 years) in the municipalities of North Mitrovica and Zvečan; young people who have some previous experience in activism, young people who are part of Local Youth Councils and youth organizations, as well as young people who do not have any previous volunteer experience.
Partners (if applicable):	/
Target Area:	Municipalities of North Mitrovica and Zvečan
Overall Objective:	The overall goal of the project is to empower young people to actively participate in social processes at the local level. That is, this project seeks to raise the capacity of young people in creating and managing activities, teamwork and leading social initiatives aimed at social inclusion and gender equality in northern Kosovo. Among other things, young people will analyze problems in the community and develop activities that can work to solve a particular problem. Therefore, young people acquire skills and competencies for understanding and solving certain problems in the municipality they come from. In addition, young people will be empowered to lobby for a solution to a particular regional problem through petitions and initiatives.
Activities:	Prior to the training, the project team goes to information meetings with representatives of other non-governmental organizations dealing with youth, - The first module will bring young people closer to how they can get involved in the work of local self-government, what are the levels of citizen participation, as well as the importance of volunteering and activism in the community. It is planned to be held in the premises of the European House in North Mitrovica. . The first module lasts 2 days, refreshments and working materials are provided for the participants. Travel expenses are paid to everyone who comes from the municipality of Zvečan. The second module deals with personality types in a group, independent and team work, as well as effective communication. The duration is expected to be 2 days at the same location. The second module will take place 3 weeks after the first module. - The third module is the longest, because it includes analysis and identification of problems in the community, creation of initiatives, use of modern tools for planning activities, and the like. Therefore, it is envisaged that this third module will be a residency training, which will be in another location, so that young people are fully dedicated to identifying problems and creating innovative approaches to solving them. The proposal is to be Brezovica, ie. Hotel Sharri, as an extended weekend, from Friday to Sunday. The third module will take place 3 weeks after the second module.

Expected Results:	Empowered 30 young people (15-29 years) who went through 3 training modules. Also, young people acquired the skills of public speaking, noticing problems in the community and acting together to solve problems. Also, young people who are directly involved become trained to recognize social problems, to analyze and critically re-examine opportunities for action. One of the main achievements is the activation of young people in the community, bearing in mind that they are very passive.
