Summary of the intervention	Breast cancer is the most common cancer in women - the fifth leading cause of death worldwide and the leading cause of death in Europe. The possibility of developing breast cancer is a source of anxiety for many women. In this context, awareness of early detection of breast cancer in women and girls is very important, given that Kosovo has a population dominated by young people. Awareness campaigns are constantly organized in Kosovo for women to have frequent check-ups, so that the disease can be detected in time, because breast cancer, diagnosed at a later stage, may be more difficult to treat. These awareness campaigns, in addition to raising the awareness of the population about the risk of breast cancer, also make efforts to encourage the institutions responsible for creating the conditions for early detection of the disease and its treatment. With the support of the umbrella organization Think Pink Europe, which includes about 30 European organizations, the 'Renaissance' Association, which is a member of this network, has joined the initiative to contribute to improving and accelerating the

	exchange of information and best practices for breast cancer health care. Within the activities of Think Pink Europe, as in other European countries, in Kosovo every year the marathon Race for the Cure is organized, an activity which serves the awareness of the population for breast cancer and focuses on reducing inequalities in access to health care. and closing the healthcare gap between European countries. The "Renaissance" Association continues to help women affected by breast cancer on a voluntary basis by offering them support to cope as easily as possible with treatment, psycho-social rehabilitation after medical treatment, support for the families of people affected by the disease, and material assistance needed after treatments such as wigs, prostheses, etc. Race for the Cure Kosova 2022- The 4th edition is usually held on the last Sunday of September where it celebrates the survival of people with breast cancer, encouraging patients in treatment and commemorating those who have lost the battle with this disease.
