Summary of the grant:	EJA Kosova will support a three-year initiative by Kosovo 2.0 aimed at strengthening public understanding, citizen engagement, and journalism's role in fostering democracy in Kosovo. The grant's overall purpose is to amplify the impact of its multimedia journalism while creating inclusive spaces for informed discussions on human rights, environmental, and cultural policies. By doing so, it strives to empower citizens with knowledge and tools to actively participate in shaping a more democratic and equitable society. The intervention will be implemented at local and national levels in Kosovo. The expected results include an enhanced understanding of key policy challenges, active public participation in democratic processes, and the establishment of K2.0 as a leading platform for citizen engagement. Main activities include producing in-depth features, reels, and perspectives; organizing closed-door discussions with local CSOs and think tanks; and hosting public events to foster meaningful debates. Citizens and target groups—including women, youth, LGBTQ+ individuals, ethnic minorities, CSOs, and policymakers—will play a central role through active involvement in discussions, content creation, and public events.
