Summary of the grant:	The overall goal of the institutional grant is to strengthen feminist activism and feminist investigative journalism in Kosovo. Our specific objectives are to increase public awareness and understanding of gender equality, empower youth to advocate for gender equality and social justice, enhance data-driven advocacy and policy-making, and mobilize public engagement and activism for gender equality. All planned activities are centered around QIKA's four programmatic areas and will include publishing investigative reports and daily articles on gender issues, translating key feminist texts, and producing multimedia content to encourage public dialogue. Through the Youth Empowerment program, QIKA will organize training workshops and mentorship sessions to equip young activists with the skills needed to advocate for social justice. The "1≠1" open data platform will be updated regularly with gender-disaggregated data on issues such as domestic violence and employment to support evidence-based advocacy. Awareness campaigns and symbolic street actions will be carried out to engage citizens and address harmful gender norms, ensuring broad outreach and community involvement. Many other activities are planned, including partnerships with educational institutions and community-based programs that will expand QIKA's reach and impact.
