Summary of the grant:	The project “Scenarios for Land Regeneration: Opportunities for Urban Agroecology” aims to raise awareness about the importance of soil in sustainable urban development in Prishtina. Through practical fieldwork, educational activities, and collaboration with ecologists, agronomists, and citizens, the project will promote regenerative practices that will contribute to overall collective well-being. The implementation will last 12 months and will take place in areas around Prishtina, with a budget of 10,000 euros, involving citizens and stakeholders through concrete interventions and open discussions about soil as a key element in the socio-ecological transition.
